Julie Stuhlsatz is a wife and mother of 2 boys. She resides in Great Bend, Ks, and attended Barton County Community College and Kansas State University.

Her oldest son, currently in college, had no struggles with learning or behavior until he was in 3rd grade. He then started struggling and was taken out of the classroom and put in IEP, speech therapy, and was struggling with willingness to learn and with his behavior at home, which is why he was also seeing a tutor to try and help him learn. During this year of school, he was then seen, tested, and diagnosed with severe dyslexia, and she took it upon herself to begin home schooling and searching for answers to naturally help him.

She and her son started traveling for a monthly session in Santa Fe, NM to work with a Holistic Behavioral Optometrist whose exercises and activities, which she helped him do herself at home, not only redeveloped all his sensory skills but also improved her son's ability and willingness to learn and live. Seeing these changes, improvements and receiving comments and questions from others about his improvements, sent her on a new career path, changing her life as well.

With the doctor's permission and guidance in 2017 Julie began VMB Development, Inc. as a LLC but later in 2022 incorporated it as a 501(c)(3) to accept tax deductible donations for parents all over the United States needing financial help to be able to have one-on-one virtual sessions, zoom or in office, to naturally help redevelop and improve their child's (preschool – middle school age) abilities and willingness to naturally develop, redevelop and improve their sensory system skills to gain, improve and regulate them, which improves their learning, behavioral, and living abilities and willingness, especially those on the edge of being taken in for testing or those who have already received certain diagnosis.

Besides training from the holistic doctor, Julie has also received instructional training from Learning RX and certifications in: Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, Child Development Associate, Emotional Freedom Technique/Thought Field Therapy, Registered Behavior Technician, Retained Primitive Reflexes, and Visual Therapy for Children.

VMB Development, Inc. is successfully helping children all over the United States develop and either greatly improve or overcome struggles they are having learning and living. Schools, therapists, tutors, and medicines are great, but they are only helping children live better with their struggles rather than redeveloping or developing, improving and/or overcoming their struggles.
