Thank you for supporting Amaranthine Aesthetics.

“Amaranth” is a Greek word meaning immortal, eternity or undying beauty.

The Amaranth flower is known for its natural healing powers that has been around for years.

Consuming Amaranth grain has powerful anti-ageing benefits.

My mission is to combine nature's powers with modern technology for optimal results by restoring the skin's balance back into equilibrium.

For more demanding skin, Amaranthine has joined with Biomedical Emporium. They are known for their signature Peptide-Technology.

The tertiary tissue-protective technology aids in preparing and reconstructing the building blocks of the cellular mechanisms, without disturbing any biological activities.
Strengthening the skin from within.

Products recommended to use for home care will be discussed in consultation and a quotation will be sent on a treatment plan.

It is recommended to complete a course of 6-8 treatments for optimal results.

Products alone can address the concern, although it is recommended to combine with professional treatments to get the most out of your products and boost the skin monthly.

Product recycling:

Bring back 10 empty bottles of the retail BioMedical Emporium range and receive a Vitamin E Therapy worth R700!

Why Amaranthine Aesthetics decided to work with Biomedical Emporium

The formulation of the products are safe, effective and high-quality skin care.

The unique synthesis of the tissue-protective peptide technology is signature to them.

This technology promotes cellular growth and turn-over rate for skin densification and dermal hydration.

Biomedical Emporium only utilizes high quality pharmaceutical grade raw materials in all formulations. On other words, a product that works on both a cellular and molecular level, in order to be effective and safe to stimulate the bodies natural responses.

Being a proudly South-Africa brand, Biomedical Emporium is suitable for our climate and aggressors.
