Greetings Beautiful Femme Fatales!!

I hope that everyone has an amazing February, and that your 2022 is off to a good start! For my article this month- I would like to talk about what it is like to be a Femme Fatale. While it is very rewarding, and I AM having the time of my life, I am also finding that the education for the division is minimal and underwhelming. Many women just simply have No Clue that this incredible opportunity exists! I MUST CHANGE THAT. So I have been out in the community working very hard to bring awareness to this division. I am pleasantly surprised to find that the women that I have talked to are very interested! The Femme Fatale Division is looking for motivated, ambitious, talented, inspiring, and organized Bio Women to become the next Brand Ambassador!! What kind of impact would you like to make on the world? What legacy could you leave behind within the organization?

My hope is to see a stage full of beautiful, & powerful women at my step down from all walks of life!! No 2 the same, but all of us United in a sisterhood that could last a lifetime! Talk about a moment realized!! Let's Go ladies!!!!!! If you would like to compete to become the next Gay United States Femme Fatale, please let me know!

We have many prelims coming up, and I am bringing the West Coast Gay United States Pageant to Phoenix in August for MI, Femme, & Icon!!

I also hope that Promoters will once again see the Femme Division as viable and necessary. The AFAB community needs a platform, and although we are still struggling to feel validated, we ARE out here building and ready to Reign with visibility and passion! If you would like to become a promoter, please get in touch with me! We can work together!!!

It is a great time to Be National & Be United! Happy Valentine's Day Lovers!

Love Always,
Taylor René Simone

Keeping it Real with Solo Jackson

OMG!!! Where has time gone so fast? I feel as though I just received my reign yesterday lol. We are 3 months into my reign and I'm absolutely loving every minute of it. So many doors are opening for me that I've been trying to pry open for years, my community respects my art and leadership, more people are interested in coming out of retirement to compete for my step down and I'm living the dream I worked so hard for. It's like a dream come true and I'm gonna do everything in my power to continue to break barriers that hold the LGBTQ+ community back.

I'm excited to travel all over country this year. I have some amazing confirmed prelims which are

Mr. Gay Florida May 28th

Mr. Gay Colorado August 13th

Mr. Gay Oklahoma October 23rd

These are some amazing prelims with some very supportive promoters. So guys and my non-binary friends... please contact me for more information on how you can become national. I will be releasing more prelim dates as they are approved and or renewed.

I hope everyone is doing amazing and making their dreams come true. Remember Dreamers never make the dream come true because they're asleep. Get up and make your dreams a reality .

Signed: Mr. Gay United States 21

Being Mister Gay United States MI, has given me so many new opportunities in the last 8 months since being crowned. I have received the pleasure of traveling to other states and perform in some amazing venues that one once had only dreamed of. I am really enjoying the experience of networking with wonderful people. I am actively working to set up more prelims across the United States as the Mister Gay United States MI representative. At the beginning of this journey, I had two prelims. I have increased to ten prelims for the MI division with my vision set to more. I am ecstatic to share these accomplishments as a drag king. Many drag kings did not have this platform to stand on in the past. As we continue work hard through struggles and fight to show our worth even amongst our LGBTQ+ brothers and sisters to gain this recognition and spotlight, the most rewarding part is knowing I am providing an opportunity for others to join me on the journey. I enjoy working hard and giving everyone a chance to compete with six contests already qualified to take the national stage in November. Coming up in 2022, I have prelims in Oklahoma, North Carolina, Virginia, Colorado, Washington D.C., California, and Arizona. I am hoping to expand this to include even more states. The Gay United States Pageantry System has really shined its light as being such an amazing pageantry system for drag kings.

GAY UNITED STATES

strives to promote and develop excellence, diversity, leadership, acceptance, and overall well-being within its family and within the world of pageantry. Welcome to the month of March where the topic of discussion is what defines a great National titleholder in this new covid 19 era of time. I've been blessed to be a multi national King and Queen for the past 20 years in the gay pageantry circuit. I've definitely seen a huge metamorphosis over the past 2 decades. When I first started my National pageant debut there was a pageant board member solely responsible for selling , marketing and expediting all paperwork. It was quite nice to be the face of the system and be directed to where I needed to appear . Over the years , I've seen this disappear totally . There are a few systems that assist in selling prelims and taking care of the paperwork side of things . I have definitely learned to use social media and circulate my promo pics so folks know me . The overall secret is to be visible ..it's not feasible to attend every national walk or system due to employment obligations but it's good to attend a few other national systems . It's a fun occasion to meet other national system reps . When you win a national it's good to write an introduction of yourself and post on social media and email to past and present. Pageant promoters .. Then establish your promo photo shoot , into leeter , and then call the National system owner promoter to discuss each other's expectations for your reign . Good communication is crucial in any titleholders level of success. It's great to have all promoters info packets,paperwork, and contracts on hand should a potential promoters or contestants . It makes you and system look organized and professional. A good titleholder has to keep in mind their social drinking and appearance at all times as you never know who is watching you lol ..these helpful tidbits will definitely set you a part from the rest . Remember to always be humble, respectful and treat everyone how you want to be treated .

With love ,

HOOP FUND

HELPING OUR OWN PEOPLE

The Gay United States Foundation strives to promote the development of a society in which all human beings are celebrated for their identities rather than in spite of them, in which individuals are free and encouraged to utilize their unique abilities to serve the greater good, and in which no person fears isolation or persecution for living their truth. Our leadership team has recognized that, to achieve this aim, we must first focus on direct efforts to uplift the LGBTQ+ community, starting with the family of advocates who have helped us along the way. Inspired by the legendary Academy of Washington, which was founded in 1961 to both promote the art of drag and provide support to members of the community in critical need, we have created our own version of the "Helping Our Own People" (HOOP) fund to support our Gay United States family members who need it most.

The original HOOP fund of the Academy was conceived to assist members who had become HIV-positive during the height of the AIDS epidemic, with members typically raising funds by entertaining at local shows. The first assistance package was presented to a dear friend of Carl Rizzi, who was known by his drag name Mame Dennis and had operated the Academy since 1973, by Wayne Sulser. Although not all requests could be fulfilled, those receiving assistance were never required to disclose receipt of the fund in a public manner or pay it back.

"I remember [XXXX] was losing her vision, and I sold everything I had so he wouldn't miss an appointment," Sulser recently commented, emphasizing the importance of his friend just knowing that they had such support behind them when it seemed like society at large was doing everything to ignore the devastation within our community. While the LGBTQ+ community has made substantial strides since that time, the reality that we may be faced with unexpected hardship for whatever reason is not lost upon us.

To honor the original contributors and recipients of the Academy fund, the HOOP fund of the Gay United States Foundation is designed to provide critical assistance to members of our family who have been affected by circumstances beyond their control, placing them in a state of economic hardship. The fund aims to serve as a lifeline to those in need, allowing them to cover necessary expenses when faced with both financial and psychological stress. In alignment with our overall mission and vision, assistance is provided without an expectation that the funds be returned and with concern for the dignity of all recipients. The HOOP fund is just one of the many ways in which Gay United States Foundation hopes to turn strangers into community, and community into family.

Often times, we get in our heads about things that may be transpiring in our lives. Be it on the job, at home, in friendships or in relationships. We get to a point where we allow these things to weigh us down and we start to lose sight of the things that truly make us happy.

I know from first hand experience what this is like and so this month I am imploring each of you to stop, if only for a minute, and take a breather from your busy lives and just smile. Smile, even if there is only one reason to, smile because those bills will not get the best of you, smile because sickness cant stop you, smile in the face of adversities, Smile.....because you can! And I promise I will smile with you!

I am thoroughly excited as the month of March is a new beginning. This month we will gather in Kansas to celebrate MsAmanda Love's reign and welcome a new sister to the Miss Gay Kansas United States Family. I am over the moon because, of course, this is my first prelim as Miss Gay United States and this is to set the tone for the remainder of the year. The other amazing thing about the month of March is it is the one year mark from my give up. Its not something that I want to think about, but it is my reality. So I will embrace it and just.... smile!

This is a brief check, so I wont be wordy, but I will say thank you for all the love and support. I cannot wait to be amongst you all. Now, look up, say cheese..... Smile!

Reigning with Raine

Heading into the month of love and another trip around the sun for myself.

I'm faced with so much gratitude to be doing what I love and getting to reign nationally as Miss Gay United States at Large. I want to start of my GUS Life with mentioning somethings I LOVE.

I LOVE my faith, I LOVE family, I LOVE myself, I LOVE drag, I LOVE traveling, I LOVE making new bonds, I LOVE seeing dreams come true and I LOVE the gift of life. I hope 2022 is still bringing much love to you all.

I started February with birthday shenanigans here in Tulsa with former GUS contestant Sya and current GUS contestant Sara we had a blast and baby the kids let us have it!! Next weekend up I was up and off to Nebraska with Barbara Love Sanchez and her Nebraska crew. What an amazing time working in three different cities in one weekend as well as getting to enjoy the experience with my double crowned GUS royalty sisters Faleasha and Bionka. The experience was cold (lol), but one that I cherish and remember for years to come. Also, in the building the whole Nebraska GUS court Treasure, Sterling, Sunshine, current GUS at Large contestant Sable and by big breasted brother former Mr. GUS Wes. We ended the weekend with my 5th preliminary Miss Gay Nebraska GUS at Large where crowned Oxy Katan and 1st alternate placed earned by Ah Vonn. Great job to both ladies and thanks for sharing your talents and sharing your life with us. Thanks Barbara and her NEBRASKA CREW for the love you showed me and helping me celebrate my birthday weekend.

Next weekend up I was home hosting my own contest Oklahoma Bold and Beautiful Elite.

This contest is interesting because all contestants no matter their stage gender all compete for one title and one cash prize. We had 4 contestants and the victory went to Shanel Sterling congrats lady job well done. Also want to give a great job to Brandon K Young on his step down and reign as ELITE and the whole OB&B family for your support and professionalism. I also UNITED some systems in the process as we had 5 different systems judging that evening. Thanks judges AAG at Large Lindsay Paige, Beauty International Christian Braxton, USofA MI Dustin Riot, GUS/Unlimited/PFIA Faleasha Savage and Miss Oklahoma Bold and Beautiful Liza.

Such a stellar night, if you want to check out more about Oklahoma Bold and Beautiful pageants you can do so at boldandbeautifulpageants.com.

Ending the month of February, I ended the month with another preliminary but this time I was off to the Phoenix, Arizona for Miss Gay West Coast Gus at Large. This was amazing as this was a lot of first things happening this day, first time competing for some contestants, new regional title, and first-time promoter. Congratulations to Taylor Rene Miss Gay United States Female Fatale for holding your first prelim, it was an amazing time. We had three contestants for West Coast with the victor being Beyonce Black St. James, 1st alternate earned by Deora LeBlanc and 2nd alternate Ar'mani Dyimond. This prelim showed exactly what GUS is about and that's making new family and friends to see these three ladies' camaraderie was such a treat and the love the audience showed each contestant was so top notched. Thanks again Taylor for holding a preliminary and showing us such a good time in Phoenix.

Well, I wanted to end this insert with a message of keep loving yourself and don't give anyone t power over you. Lots of times in show business we let people's words or actions haunt us when the spotlight dims. I encourage anyone the next time this happens take your power back and realize you oversee your happiness and what we let affect that happiness.

As always, my inbox is open
All my love,
Londenn

Miss Gay United States at Large

DYLAN'S CORNER

In just about 2 months, our new Mr. and Miss Gay United States at Large will emerge from among a pool of extremely talented contestants, all of whom have already proven their capabilities as entertainers and their commitment to serving as role models and mentors. But how exactly do you accomplish that, especially in the digital age, when you may never even be able to meet some of the people who want to learn from you?

Think of your own role models. Think of the legacy they have left behind. If they are entertainers, what has made them stand out from their predecessors and even their successors? If not, what about the lives they have lived makes them stand out to you? Before I offer my answer, I want to let you in on something.

No one ever remembers the ones who choose to follow the easy road.

In times of war, the greatest leaders—the ones whose names we can't help but remember, even if we're not sure why anymore—have all had one thing in common: the courage to take responsibility for their actions, as well as their inaction. And make no mistake, reigning as a national titleholder can absolutely feel like taking on multiple armies all at once.

Abraham Lincoln, fully expecting that it would cost him reelection, made the difficult and largely unpopular decision to pursue war following a long series of early defeats. FDR accepted responsibility for the devastating losses at Pearl Harbor, and for the sacrifices yet to come. Future president Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the overall commander of forces for D-Day, stated the following: “If any blame or fault attaches to the [failed] attempt it is mine alone.”

In pageantry (and in life), how you respond to conflict will set the stage for your reign. At the national level, you will be charged with meeting and interacting with entertainers, promoters, and fans from across the country--all of whom have different and sometimes very strong personalities. There will be disputes among contestants. There will be grudges from competitions past, contestants who feel that they should have placed higher, and there will be those who simply wish to speak ill of you or your system. In short, people will get under your skin, whether intentionally or not, and you may be in for a long and rather arduous battle when you least expect it. How you choose to handle each moment will not only be taken as representative of your character and judgment, but it will also be taken as representative of the system.

It's all up to you. But no matter what happens, accepting responsibility for your choices—and being able to admit when you could have made better ones—is absolutely the first step in building not only a reign, but also a legacy.

So, what will yours be?

The most effective leaders understand that the best way to win a war is to prevent one from happening in the first place. In addition to accepting responsibility for the actions you do and do not take, taking the time to practice your conflict resolution skills and act mindfully when presented with the opportunity to utilize them will benefit you in the long run, and you'll actually feel more at peace.

What does this mean, exactly?

When you're faced with a conflict, you might want to write some things down. Maybe you're more of a video person. But there are some questions you'll need to ask yourself before you take action:

1. What is the problem, specifically? Knowing whether the concern is tangible enough to be addressed is important for the next steps.
2. Why is it upsetting?
3. To whom do I reach out to resolve the issue, and what is the resolution each party would like?
4. What will I do—what will we all do—if we do not get the outcomes we desire?
5. How can I/we avoid this issue going forward, and how can all parties involved move beyond this, if that is possible?
6. Have my actions at each stage been in my best interest and/or in the best interest of the system? Is there a conflict between the two? Have I represented the situation and all parties involved (including myself) fairly and in a way I feel is dignified?
7. Ultimately, what have I learned from this, and how can I use that information to effect change that is positive?

This isn't always easy. In fact, most of the time it's not. It requires taking a step back before acting. Before reacting. You're in the spotlight now, and you have people looking up to you. What kind of role model do you want to be, especially when things get tough?

That said. We're not robots with CPUs that can figure all of this out for us without the influence of emotion. People make mistakes. You will, and so will others, and I charge you with extending the compassion you would like to receive to others when things get difficult. Remember: A bad situation doesn't have to stay bad. Pageantry is about developing into a positive role model... even for people you don't like all that much.

Will you be remembered as the leader who rose to the challenge, who chose the difficult path of conflict resolution prior to conflict...or not?

It's all up to you. But no matter what happens, accepting responsibility for your choices—and being able to admit when you could have made better ones—is absolutely the first step in building not only a reign, but also a legacy.

So, what will yours be?
