See, I am doing a new thing!
Now it springs up; do you not perceive it?
I am making a way in the wilderness and streams in the wasteland.

I'm currently in beautiful Spokane, Washington for our National Council. On Monday I sat through our National Alliance Women's Leadership Team Meeting and it was a wonderful celebration of what God is doing in and through Alliance Women around the country.

Jen Vogel, the outgoing National Director passed the baton to the incoming Director, Ana Cuevas. It's wonderful when transition happens smoothly and Ana will do a fantastic job as the new director.

This transition happened smoothly because there were months of praying for God's leading. There was Ana's willingness to submit to the Lord's guidance and there was Jen's humility in letting the reigns go. Unfortunately, this doesn't always happen in organizations.

I've been thankful for Jen's leadership the past 8 years, but I'm also looking forward to the new thing that God is going to do through Ana. Change is really difficult for many and yet, if we cannot be pliable to the changes the Lord wants to do, we will get stuck. Stuck in the same place, stuck in the same sin, stuck in the same bad habits and stuck in the same way of doing ministry that becomes irrelevant to those to whom we are trying to minister. If we aren't willing to be humble we will get nowhere.

I'm excited to see what the Lord will do through Alliance Women in our denomination and our district. I'm praying that our local churches will engage with Alliance Women, but not so we can continue the same stale way of doing it, but so we can create a fresh way to see God work in and through the women in our district.

As Alliance Women's Director for our district, I'm going to continue to communicate connecting women through discipleship, outreach and missions. My desire is to see our women's ministries in our churches thrive and grow and communicate that same message.

Rise up! God is doing a new thing. Can't you see it? He is making a way in your hard places and providing living water for your difficult parched spaces. Rise up, be filled and allow Him to work.
