

MORY

5TH APRIL
AFRIKA HOUSE

Textile Portraiture

Born in 1996 in Alagineena, a city in West Darfur, Sudan, Mory's upbringing unfolded in Aljazirah state. A self-taught photographer, he embarked on his artistic journey through phone photography. His creative canvas draws inspiration from the interplay of skin tones, light dynamics, and intricate patterns. He attributes his perception of colors and patterns to growing up within a family that owns a fabric business in Medani.

His photographic narratives delve into deeply personal themes encompassing familial history, masculinity, trauma, love, and friendship. Sharing his creations on social media platforms sparked immediate interest, leading swiftly to awards and well-deserved recognition. Despite his frequent movement between Medani, Khartoum, and Cairo for family business purposes, Mory found himself inadvertently confined to Medani when the conflict erupted. This period became a poignant juncture for him to document the reverberating impact of war on both himself and the displaced people in the region.
