The Falkland Islands Museum in Stanley

The Museum welcomes many visitors every year, all of whom gain an enjoyable appreciation of the Falkland Islands' history, way of life and environment.

The Jane Cameron National Archives in Stanley

The Archives are named in memory of the late Government Archivist, Jane Cameron. Stored here are numerous Falklands Islands' records, dating back to 1833, which provide an invaluable source of information for historians and researchers.

FIMA Friends

The Friends of the Falkland Islands Museum and the Jane Cameron National Archives raise funds for, and give support to, these institutions. We help them to increase their collections through purchases and donations. We also provide exhibition material from time to time. Assistance from FIMA Friends provide a valuable source of income for acquiring additional materials. We are also committed to giving major financial assistance to the Museum's planned new hall for large exhibits and storage.

Friends receive newsletters which cover the association's work together with news from the Islands. Friends also enjoy free admission to the Museum, may attend occasional special events and benefit from discounts on publications.

More information about our charity can be discovered by visiting our website www.fimafriends.co.uk where you will also find links to the websites of the Museum and Archives.

The Objectives of FIMA Friends are to:

- Raise funds from subscriptions and donations
- Monitor possible sources of exhibits and endeavour to procure historical items that would find a natural home in the Islands
- Encourage potential donors of artefacts
- Help the Museum and Archives to acquire for their collections various materials for conservation and presentation
