Western Music & Songwriters Series

Every January celebrates the rich tapestry of Western music, bringing together talented songwriters and musicians who embody the spirit and stories of the West. This series showcases a diverse range of genres, from traditional country and folk to contemporary Americana, highlighting the evolution of Western music and its cultural significance.

Each event features live performances, storytelling, and intimate discussions, allowing audiences to connect with the artists on a personal level. By fostering a sense of community and appreciation for the craft of songwriting, the series aims to inspire both aspiring musicians and dedicated fans. Join us in honoring the legacy of Western music while supporting the voices that continue to shape its future.

WMSS Welcomes Ned LeDoux

One of the most incredible things about great music is that it has the ability to take the listener to a place they'd rather be. A compelling song can carry someone back in time to a treasured memory, or transport a person to a spectacular western prairie they've only visited in their dreams. Ned LeDoux's music has that kind of power. As a songwriter, he has a knack for bringing people, places, and emotions vibrantly to life with his insightful lyrics, and warm, strong voice that makes him sound like a beloved friend you always want to hang out with. Those gifts are fully on display on LeDoux's new album Buckskin.

"I'm writing my own story and if people take a liking to it, that's wonderful," says LeDoux. "As long as I'm writing from the heart, and writing about what I know, I can definitely listen back to it and be proud."

TRINITY SEELY

KEVIN DAVIS

Kevin Davis is a Western music artist from Oklahoma who has been writing and performing for many years. Drawing from real-life experience, his songs reflect the grit, heart, and honesty of the Western way of life. Kevin sings about what he knows, often sharing the stories and inspiration behind his music, creating a genuine connection with his audience. With a deep love for music and performing, he brings authenticity, storytelling, and true Western spirit to every stage he steps onto.

TRINITY SEELY

Horses and music naturally go together—feel, timing, and balance. She works alongside her husband at The Thacher School in Ojai, California, where she serves as Director of the Horse Program, founded on the belief that the outside of a horse is good for the inside of a kid. After years working on ranches across the West and raising her four children, she continues to share the Western lifestyle through music, using the horse as a conduit to express the stories and heart of a ranch wife.

CELEBRATING 30 YEARS

of protecting, loving, and saving children.

Thirty years ago, a promise was made — that when a child enters crisis, they would not be met with fear, but with care.

That promise has now protected more than 185,000 children across Utah and beyond.

Thirty years built this mission.

The next thirty will sustain it.

Help ensure that children in crisis are protected — not just today, but for generations to come.

As another winter evening in Tooele County passes, we find ourselves reflecting on the remarkable journey of the Western Music & Songwriters Series. Twelve years—a span of time that has woven melodies, memories, and magic into the very fabric of our community. From the days of holding the event in a convention center filled with wall-to-wall people to the indoor arena where it took the event to the next level, this series has been more than a collection of performances. It has been a celebration of heritage, a tribute to the pioneers who rode these same trails, and a testament to the enduring spirit of the West. We extend our heartfelt gratitude to each songwriter who graced our stage—the poets who penned lyrics that stirred our souls, the troubadours who strummed stories of resilience, and the dreamers who painted sunsets with their words. You’ve etched your names into the annals of Western music, leaving behind footprints that will echo through generations. To our loyal audience—the folks who gathered the last weekend of January, sharing stories of past performances—we raise our hats. Your applause, laughter, and hollers have fueled our passion. You’ve become family, and this series has been our shared legacy. And let us not forget the young buckaroos who were introduced to Western music and sat cross-legged, wide-eyed, absorbing every note. They are the keepers of our heritage, the future stewards of Western culture. To them, we say: thank you and we hope we have laid the foundation of sparking their interest of Western culture. As we embark on the twelfth year, we promise to keep our event true and authentic by bringing you Western music’s top award-winning artists. The Western Music & Songwriters Series will continue to ride the winds, and find refuge in the hearts of those who listen. Thank you, Tooele County, for Eleven harmonious years. Here’s to many more!
