

Goal: my main goal of my portfolio is to display the work I have created in graphic design and how I have gone beyond my original perceived abilities to create creative expression for this class.

I think creativity comes in many forms and is an expression of art and aesthetics.

Graphic 1: this is created for a type of fashion magazine company, it took around an hour and a half to create. I included this into my portfolio because this is one of my favorite pieces of work I created for this class and I really enjoy designing things for magazines and layouts. This file demonstrates how I went beyond my comfortability to try new things and express my love for both aesthetics and magazine layouts.

Graphic 2: I chose my art museum because I really liked the concept for this one. I wanted to do a piece that represented a unique idea of “seeing things from a different angle”. This took around two hours to create, and is created for future architects and leaders who will be developing this new museum. This assignment achieves the goal of displaying a new and unique idea through digital designs.

Graphic 3-4: is my design I made for the coag media logo. These were super fun to create and gave me experience on logo design and very relevant graphic work. I think this accomplished the goal of bringing a vision to life. These took around an hour to create.

Graphic 5: this was my floor plan mockup for the sustainable one dollar store. This really stretched me out of my comfort zone and I felt sort of like I was doing architect work which I enjoyed. This took a few hours to complete and worked on it stretched out for a few days. I wanted to include this into my portfolio because it displays an interesting assignment and another vision coming to life as well as unique ideas shown through aesthetics and digital designs.

Graphic 6: The Jesus blog was extremely fun to create as it felt like we had more freedom to be creative and is why I included this in my portfolio. Next time I would narrow down the ideas for this and not have so many displayed. It took around a few hours to complete. This displays the accomplishment of creating my first blog design and showing a unique perspective of sharing the gospel through online platforms.

Graphic 7: this design was over our brand name which I was very proud of. I think this displayed my abilities and style well. This took a few hours stretched among a couple days to complete. It stretched me beyond my ability to think creatively as it was hard at first to come up with concepts but in the end I was proud of the work.

Graphic 8:

Lastly the storyboard was included because this displays another out of comfort assignment that took a lot of creativity and critical thinking. It was fun to imagine creating an image for an actual video that could potentially come to life and for a good cause. This took an hour and a half to complete.
