2024 · WHAT DOCUMENTS DO I NEED TO KEEP ON FILE?

TAX DOCUMENTS	YES	NO
 Are you filing income tax returns? If so, consider the following: Keep at least three years of state and federal tax returns and supporting documentation on file. Supporting documentation includes records that prove any income, deductions, or credits claimed (W-2, 1099, end of year statements from banks and investment accounts).
 Depending on the state (like CA), you may need to keep tax returns for longer than three years. If you think you forgot to report income and it's more than 25% of gross income, keep six years of tax returns on file. If you are claiming a loss for worthless securities or bad debt deduction, keep records for seven years.
 Keep all W-2s until you begin collecting Social Security. Have you made taxable gifts or received an inheritance? If so, keep all 709s that you file, and any 8971s or 706s issued to you, along with any supporting documentation in your permanent records.
HEALTHCARE DOCUMENTS	YES	NO
Will you apply for Medicaid (perhaps due to long-term care expenses)? If so, keep all financial statements and records of transactions for the previous five years to support your application for Medicaid, as there is generally a five-year look-back provision.
Do you have a Health Savings Account (HSA)? If so, keep all medical receipts from the date the HSA was opened.
Did you write off medical expenses on your tax return? If so, keep records for as long as you keep your tax returns (generally three years).
 Are you on Medicare? If so, consider the following: Keep your Medicare Summary Notices for at least a year, or until your bill is paid in full. If you are enrolled in an employer drug plan that is considered creditable, keep your annual "Notice of Creditable Coverage" provided by your employer. This is needed if you enroll in Part D at a later time.

2024 · WHAT DOCUMENTS DO I NEED TO KEEP ON FILE?

ASSET & DEBT RELATED DOCUMENTS	YES	NO
 Do you have any investment accounts or bank accounts? If so, consider the following: Keep the most current statements on file (paper or electronic). Keep the End of Year statement on file until you complete your tax return. If you own investments purchased before 2012 (the year that custodians were required to track cost basis), keep records of what you paid for the non-covered investments in the event you sell them in the future, as the 1099 may not report cost basis. Do you maintain any retirement accounts? If so, consider the following: Keep documentation on any contributions and withdrawals (e.g., IRS Form 5498). If you took a Coronavirus-Related Distribution, keep your withdrawal request and 1099-R. If you made a Roth conversion, keep records showing the conversion. If you made non-deductible traditional IRA contributions, keep Form 8606 until the account is fully withdrawn to track cost basis.
 Are you a small business owner? If so, keep the following: Federal EIN, business formation documents, ownership agreements, and any business licenses. Payroll records, employment tax records, and receipts for all expenses. Business asset records, such as purchase and sales invoices, deeds, and titles. Records of employee benefits, such as retirement plan documents.
Do you have any debts (student loans, mortgage, etc.)? If so, keep the loan documents until the loan is paid off. Once the loan is paid off, keep documentation on file proving that the loan has been paid in full. (continue on next column)
