The following virtual presentations are presented in partnership with the Tewksbury Public Library:

Nathaniel Hawthorne's Little-Known Fragments & Microfictions

Monday, Nov. 2, 2:00pm

Register to receive Zoom link

Explore some of Hawthorne's oddest, boldest, and most secretive writing as they were found in his journals! Known as The American Notebooks which were written in his post-college years, the "microfictions" sprinkled throughout these notebooks became a vital source for his future stories and novels.

Uncovering The Plymouth Blitz - Researching & Remembering One Of WW2's Deadliest Air Raids

Wednesday, Nov. 18, 7:00pm

Register to receive Zoom link

Delve into the history and making of the new book, Plymouth Blitz: The Bombing of Portland Square & the Devastation of a City, as told by its author, Michael C. McLaughlin, Associate Fellow of the Royal Historical Society and PhD Candidate at the University of Plymouth, UK. Despite being one of WWII England's most devastating civilian incidents, key human elements of this tragedy remained scattered and untold—until now.

PLEASE NOTE: THESE ARE VIRTUAL PROGRAMS THAT WILL TAKE PLACE VIA ZOOM. Registrants will receive a link to access the Zoom Webinar via email.

Fuzz: When Nature Breaks the Law* By Mary Roach

Did you know that 300 years ago, in Europe, animals that broke the law received legal representation and were put on trial? That practice is, thankfully, no longer in practice, but what to do about animals that run afoul of the law? “America’s Funniest Science Writer” (Peter Carlson, Washington Post), Mary Roach, examines cases of “problem” creatures and what can be done to help them better coexist with humans . . . without relying on today’s court system for solutions.

The Mighty Red* by Louise Erdrich

Set in a rural North Dakota farming community after the country’s 2008 financial crisis, The Mighty Red centers on the lives and loves of a few of the people living there, from two high school seniors who see marriage as a way to put their past behind them, to their damaged parents struggling to come to terms with their own pain.

With the Red River as backdrop, nature plays an important role in this saga, especially with regards to the effects of farming on the environment and the residents’ health.

The Weird Book Club will meet December 21 to discuss Lost Lambs by Madeline Cash

Copies for our book clubs and the Center for Active Living Book Club are available at the Library’s Main Desk.

Genealogy Club Saturday, November 21

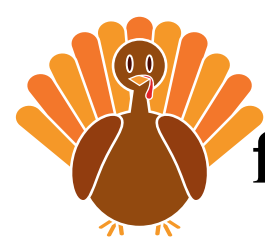

11:00am: Meet and Greet

12:00pm: Virtual Presentation: Friend or Foe -
Researching Colonial Ancestors During the American Revolution with Melanie McComb

Nearly 250 years ago, America declared its independence from the British Empire, changing the course of history. While many took up the cause and supported the revolution, others remained loyal to the British government, turning friends into foes and pitting neighbor against neighbor. In this online lecture, Senior Genealogist with American Ancestors’ Melanie McComb will discuss how to research your colonial ancestors and determine if, and how, they may have served the cause of the American Revolution.

No RSVP is necessary to attend monthly meetings. All levels are welcome, from novice to experienced. Contact csouza@sailsinc.org to be added to the Club’s email list.

Genealogy Resources: Need help researching your family tree? Cynthia Souza, our resident expert on genealogy research, can help you navigate Ancestry.com Library Edition, American Ancestors, FamilySearch, and the resources available in the newly reorganized Brian H. Reynolds Local History Room. Drop-in hours for assistance are Thursdays from 4:00-6:00pm.

In the Great Ponds Gallery

Dan Cooney, Acrylics: "Faces & Places"

Exhibition Dates: Saturday, October 31
through Wednesday, December 22

Public Reception: Thursday, November 5
5:30pm-7:30pm

Specializing in both oil and acrylic, Daniel A. Cooney received his MFA in Painting from the University of California, Berkeley (1989), and his BFA in Graphic Design from Swain School of Design (1981). Typically exploring a single subject through a number of works before moving on to a new motif, Cooney develops paintings in focused series, approaching each subject as an opportunity to explore the expressive relationships between color, light, texture, and form.

"Every picture tells a story," says Cooney. "The goal is to create images that are compelling enough in both content and form that they might connect with viewers on a deeper level, encouraging them to pause, look again, and discover something new with each viewing."

His work is represented in many private and some public collections, in both France and the U.S., including Chateaux de Hontambère and the Boston Children's Hospital. Learn more at: www.dcooneypaints.com

Cooney divides his time between Cognac, France and Lakeville; his work is influenced by both environments.
