

BLOG CONFESSIONS OF THE WORKPLACE

Welcome to my weekly Blog, “ Confessions of The Workplace”. I’m Amy Campbell.

Each week you will read about a variety of topics and real-life stories entrepreneurs encounter in the workplace, with realistic and informative views and a creative spin on overcoming some these challenges.

“THE JOB - IS JUST NOT THAT INTO YOU”

Only a few short weeks ago you and your besties were celebrating your new job. But deep down you’re already planning your existing strategy. So, let’s be frank for a moment. You’ve known from the beginning this was not what you wanted, but you decided that “desperate times calls for desperate measures”. Are does it?

Why are you wasting your gifts and talents on a job you don’t really like, knowing there’s absolutely nothing you enjoy doing. Everyone around you underestimate your capabilities and limit your potential?

Are you choosing to settle for less because you feel you have too? Because we know it’s not because it was LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT 🧐. Not sure, then here’s your test question: “(fill in your job title) _____ How do I love thee?....Let me count the ways.”

WHA-A-A-T.. are you still stuck on number #1? ----I think “ The Job Is Just Not That Into You”. If it’s not giving back what you’ve put into it, then you’re with the wrong one, sorry.

Let me ask you these questions:

- ◆When you walk into your job does your insides scream “OMG I just love being here !”
- ◆Are your co-workers a dream, everything you expected?
- ◆Maybe you found your new BFF or work wife/husband and you all have lunch together every day....Or..... are those backstabbing %#?#$@ always talking about you every chance they get and trying to steal your work so they can gain more points with the boss?
- ◆Do you stare at the clock, while counting down the time before you have to leave and when you do, you’re getting out of there faster than a road runner, leaving a trail smoke as you go?

Don’t despair, there is one out there just for you, with your name on it. You’ll know it because when the two of you meet, you’ll feel a crazy kind of tinkling sensation just knowing, it’s the one. You’ll wake up every morning excitedly looking forward to your day. This one will bring out your best qualities, show you off for entrepreneur you are, maximize your potential and all while giving you the opportunity to exceed your own expectations.

You'll get that warm and fuzzy feeling of belonging, knowing you are where you need to be, and while being refreshingly rewarded for your accomplishments.

UGH.....are we still talking about a job or a date? Yep, it's time to meet

THE RIGHT ONE', that is, the right job tailored made just for you.

So, shake this one off as soon as you can because "THE JOB IS JUST NOT THAT INTO YOU".

Until the next confession....

Be Your Best Always,

Amy