Details on some of our workshops:

Silver Day

This day is tailored to accommodate beginners and more experienced students alike, with individual tuition given you will be taught a variety of skills. The price of the day includes 17gms of Silver clay, which is sufficient to make a ring, pendant & pair of earrings, although this is just a guide as each student is given the opportunity & guidance to choose projects for

Silver & Glass Combined (Full Day)

Why not come along and try our silver and glass combined workshop? On the day you will spend the morning being taught how to cut and fuse glass to achieve the best results, you will make approximately 5 or 6 pieces of stunning fused glass. After lunch you will select one or two of your favorite pieces to enhance with Art

Clay Silver, turning them into 'one off's' and individual. Due to the time required for glass to cool before resuming with adding the silver to the glass, there will be a longer than usual break for lunch. Completed items will be posted to students within 5 days.

Silver & Glass Combined (Half Day)

On this 3 hour session you will pick one or two pieces of previously fused glass to make your stunning glass and silver pendant.

Additional Options:

Once you've mastered the basics, why not consider getting a bit more adventurous, there's a variety of skills to add to your Art Clay Silver experience and enhancements to your pieces for example you could try: Stone Setting, Ring Making, Brooch Making or applied cold resins for a bit of colour.

Party/Group Bookings

Why not get a group of friends to celebrate a special occasion, ideal for a Hen Party with a difference, birthdays or just a get together !

Prices: from £40pp

Commissioned work

Having undertaken a wide variety of silver commissioned work at affordable prices in the past, we are always happy to discuss options with you if you have something specific in mind.

What is Art Clay Silver?

Art Clay Silver is a magical substance, which consists of finely ground, pure reclaimed-silver particles, mixed with non-toxic binders and water. This forms a clay like substance that can be rolled, flattened, pressed into moulds, pushed through a syringe to give a filigree effect - in fact you can achieve anything that you can do with ordinary clays. Once you have perfected a shape you can dry the clay with a heat gun, hairdryer or conventional oven, this process evaporates all of the water. You then sand your piece to achieve that perfect finish. The final process is firing piece in a kiln with a blow torch or on a gas hob. This removes the binders and you are left with 99.9% Pure Silver. After polishing you will have your very own designer piece of jewellery, which can be hall-marked.
