

Moving the Stones©

by Jo-Ann Dammacco

What does it mean to be of the impression that you are someone?

What does it mean to be of the mind that you can do anything?

What does it mean to think that the world revolves around you?

Deep in the thoughts of the mind, I sit and know that I am what I chose to be...

The contract I chose is me and I am the contract that I chose.

Where does it say that the contract can't be broken, that the ways of the world are not in my power?

Source energy resides in me and I am the equation of my ancestors.

Peace is the source and love is the contract. That is all.

Why is it so hard to see who I am, where is my remembering, where is my soul, where is my love and comfort, and where is my life?

Laying of hands on the earth to tell the earth I am sorry until I love it better.

My ancestors sit with me every day and love me.

They hold me and comfort me and show me I am loved.

It is within my grasp to know them by name and to seize the time with them at my leisure.

It is okay for me not to see them but to feel them at all times.

My daughter, my father, my cousins and aunts and uncles, let me remember them at all times.

It is within me to remember to see them and to feel them.

It is within my grasp of mind, body and soul... use me as god of my understanding.

Let me be understood and misunderstood for it is within me to prove the way it should be.

Let me be who I am to be, for the greatness and the sorrow are mine - I chose these.

Let me know that it is within my power to be the subject of love and hatred and peace and virtue and use me up, I asked for that.

Use me up for I am what I am to be. I chose the world as it is now, so in essence I created the world.

How can it be that the world is such?

Because I contracted it before I was even born to be in the world as it is now, so I created this world as it is now.

So we are all puzzle pieces that make up this world as it is in this moment.

The world does not exist except that we chose it to be.

If it were not for all the contracts coming together as they did at this very second and the seconds before and the seconds after that the world would cease to exist.

I am powerful and the free will offered as a clause in this contract can be utilized as we each see fit.

So choose, choose, and don't be brief... be long-winded and deep in thought when you choose to put free will in place - for it is a superpower.

It is grace, it is love, it is truth, and it is who I am. I am free will... we all are free will.

The contract is the contract, but the God of my understanding knows us

And, so that everyone knows that we all need to grow like the tree... both ways.

The rocks that stop our roots from growing won't stop us for long for we are then able to go around that rock, or we have become so strong that we move the rock out of the way for our own purpose.

The rock remains but we move forward. What an amazing feat, and it will never be seen or known, except to the rock and perhaps any creature that lives below it.

But I know... I know each and every rock that I've had to move and each and every rock that I've had to go around.

And as I have built my life on this solid ground, I have grown taller and stronger and up toward the sun and the moon to gather the strength of the ages from my ancestors and my loved ones.

Thank you for this in the here and now, that is now my past, and thank you for the future which is now present which is now my past... we are all creating this world for the contracts we chose and so with the clause of free will we move the stones.
