Total Finishing Welcomes Brandon Griffith as Project Manager and Change Agent

Montclair, CA— 1/9/2026 — Total Finishing is pleased to announce the addition of Brandon Griffith as the newest Project Manager for Total Finishing Systems, while also serving as a Change Agent for Total Finishing Solutions. Brandon brings more than two decades of hands-on finishing industry experience and technical expertise to the Total Finishing team.

With 23 years in the coatings industry, Brandon's background spans powder coating, conveyor and paint lines, electrostatics, and industrial pumps. His career began in his late teens and early twenties working directly in batch coating and auto body environments, where he developed a strong foundation in real-world finishing operations. That technical foundation ultimately led him into sales, where he has been able to bridge the gap between engineering, system design, and customer solutions.

Brandon has held key roles with respected industry organizations including Springer Industrial, Tesla, Metal Finishing Solutions, Spray Equipment and has worked as a mechanical engineer on powder coating lines for one of the largest powder coating operations in the United States. His experience designing, supporting, and implementing large-scale finishing systems provides immediate value to customers seeking efficient, scalable, and reliable finishing solutions.

In his dual role at Total Finishing, Brandon will focus on project execution, system coordination, and technical leadership, while also supporting customers as a Change Agent covering Northern California—helping manufacturers evaluate, improve, and modernize their finishing processes.

“Brandon's deep technical knowledge and long-standing industry experience make him a strong addition to our team,” said Total Finishing leadership. “His ability to understand finishing challenges from the shop floor to system-level design aligns perfectly with our mission to deliver complete, customer-focused finishing solutions.”

Total Finishing welcomes Brandon Griffith to the team and looks forward to the expertise, leadership, and industry insight he brings to customers and partners alike.
