FROM THE WINEMAKER

Typically a very earthy wine, the Teroldego also expresses elements of blueberry, plum, vanilla, and boysenberry. A perfect wine when you are looking for a heavy Italian red that is approachable, deep in character and with a finish that will linger into the evening hours.

FUN FACT

Teroldego is an Italian winegrape variety mostly known for wines produced from the Trentino-Alto Adige region of Northern Italy and is seeing a planting surge in California because of its resilience in the vineyard and strong dark fruit characteristics.
