Changing Lives With Nutrition

Standard Process focuses on achieving wholistic
health through nutrition.

From our certified organic, regenerative farming practices to our Nutrition Innovation Center, we are committed to clinical science that advances health and changes lives.

It Starts With Soil

On our 623-acre, certified organic farm, we use regenerative farming practices to cultivate nutrient-dense soil as nature intended.

Whole Food-Based Ingredients

The whole food plant ingredients grown in our organic soil are rich in phytonutrients. More than 80% of all raw plant ingredients that go into our products come directly from our farm, traveling less than a mile to our manufacturing facility.

Manufactured With Care

Our freshly picked crops are processed often within a day using state-of-the-art technologies to maintain the naturally occurring nutrients in our plant ingredients.

Committed to Clinical Science

We are dedicated to being at the forefront of driving clinical studies that advance patient care through whole food-based nutrition.

More and more consumers today have busy schedules and pressure-packed lifestyles.

Often, this can lead to less-than-ideal dietary choices and habits that often contribute to compromised health. For almost 60% of Americans, this increases the risk of chronic health issues. Many of these health issues have negative effects on the underlying key systems of the body that in turn often compromise our lifestyles and influence the trajectories of our health. When this happens, it is helpful to take a more detailed look at each system, using new and advanced insights from nutrition science to develop guidelines for effective nutrition therapies using whole food solutions.

Over the last 3 to 5 years, new publications from both epidemiological and intervention clinical studies have provided evidence that for the most important body systems, whole food nutrition can make an important difference. When each system is properly understood, it is then possible to develop a nutrition care regimen that can help stabilize the targeted system, improve its normal and healthy functionality and often improve a normal health trajectory. These important systems, including immune, inflammatory response, central nervous system and digestive health, to name a few, have all been linked to and shown to be influenced by specific nutritional uses. This guide provides an overview to not only product selection but also general therapeutic support for patient care.

Foundational systems of the body represent an underlying matrixed network of activity, influencing the body's health profile. This is especially the case with the neuro-immune system which works through feedback loops that move between and across multiple systems.<sup>1</sup> When in balance, this matrix maintains a normal system response. When systems are out of balance, like those associated with the neuronal influence of the hypothalamus-pituitary-adrenal axis (HPA), it can affect other systems including how the body's immune response will function and respond. Since stress can also impact the body's natural ability to activate the immune response and resolve inflammation, proper nutrition that supports these normal system functions can play an important role in achieving a healthy lifestyle balance.<sup>2,3</sup>
