Relationships Education and Health Education are taught in this school as statutory subjects. Elements of sex education, though non-statutory are also an integrated PSHE programme of work. Relationships and Sex Education is defined by the PSHE Association as 'Learning about the emotional, social and physical aspects of growing up, relationships, sex, human sexuality and sexual health'. This content is delivered in an age appropriate way in our school with regard to the age and stage of pupils. The governors and staff recognise RSE as an important part of the curriculum, assisting with moral, physical, emotional and social development of the children.

The wide range of social and emotional maturity and educational ability will be catered for within a graduated, age appropriate programme of RSE in line with the National Healthy School Standard and the Derbyshire Children and Young People's Health Promotion Programme.

The RSE policy will reflect the views and needs of the teachers and pupils parents and community.
