

Noah

(Gen 6)

[Joe Vermeulen]

1. Humanity now fills the earth
(With) daughters given them in birth
Sons of God came down
Took for themselves – daughters from man

These are they – who disobey
Not keeping to the place God gave Inflicting hybrid pain
And so was born, the Nephilim

Fill:

2. The Lord did see – the human race
Makes the earth a wicked place
(Their) every thought and deed
Evil bent – exceedingly

The heart of God; floods with pain
Now regrets the man He'd made
And so the Lord did weep
And judge the earth – with waters deep

Chorus:

(But) Noah was a righteous man
Blameless in his day
Walked with God – so faithfully
His righteousness proclaim

By faith he saw the things to come
And so in holy fear
Would build an ark – the world to save
While people mocked and jeered –

– The flood was drawing near

Fill:

3. A wicked generation
Fills the earth with violence
Corrupting all their ways
Destructive in - their sin and their shame

And so did God his judgement speak
A flood would come the world to sweep
Destroying all of life
Everything – with breath would die

Chorus 2:

With you I make a covenant
You, your sons and wives
Into the ark you'll enter in
A shelter to survive

Ev'ry creature I will bring
Two of ev'ry kind
Male – female – wild and tame
In the ark be kept alive

– This flood you will survive

Bridge:

So build the ark
Gofer wood
Three levels high
Make rooms in it

Use pitch to coat
Inside and out
A roof with op'nings –
– Round'a 'bout

Closing:

Three hundred cubits long
Fifty cubits wide
Thirty cubits high

A single door – on its side –
My judgement you'll survive – – – –

Ending:

You will survive – righteous Noah –
finding grace in my eyes, –
I'll keep you alive
This flood you will survive...
