WHAT IS A PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSIONER?

The Public Service Commissioner (PSC) is an elected official in Georgia who serves on the Georgia Public Service Commission. The Commission is responsible for regulating utilities in the state, such as electricity, natural gas, telecommunications, and transportation services. Their primary goal is to ensure that utility services are provided in a safe, reliable, and affordable manner to all Georgians.

WHY IS A PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSIONER IMPORTANT?

The PSC election is important because the commissioners have the power to make decisions that affect the prices and quality of essential services

Utility Rates: How much you pay for electricity, gas, and other services

Utility Service Quality: Ensuring that the services you rely on are consistent and safe.

Energy Plans: Overseeing plans to develop and manage energy resources, like renewable energy.
