White Tea

The production of white tea is very different to green tea. First, the leaves come from a special varietal tea bush called Narcissus or chaicha bushes. Second, the leaves are not steamed or pan-fired as is the case in green tea. These leaves must show a very light green almost gray white color and be covered with velvet peach fuzz down. The ideal is a leaf or two being wrapped around a newly developing shoot. These leaves are then naturally withered and the painstaking process on final manual selection occurs.
