

Schooling & Learning Philosophy

Through educational experiences with many children, and now James, my own child, I have wrestled within myself and have engaged the unknown in regard to what it truly means to school a child IN the Kingdom of Light ... From a World that holds all worlds.

- There is a foundation
- There are pillars, a structure
- There is a filling and an expanding

These three are distinct and interchangeably the same

Foundation

Foundation being built and established through a waking up, a remembering.

- Peace ... Stillness ... Personal. Sacred intimacy with I AM
- Point of Contact is always and foremost, LIFE - everything is for child - to be known, to know, to become life.
- Child is not for school and shall not bend or die for school, as though to be sacrificed.

Pillars - Structure

This is Wisdom, her becoming one with child

- Learning from within that which child is experiencing. Using everything as door to see I AM - to see living truth in all that is and all that will ever be.
- Wonder - Play - Adventure - Stillness
- Natural - Rest movements - There will be no rushing or forcing of anything. Time is child's gift. Discernment grows here, child sees how everything is for child in order for child to be known - to know - to become Life.

Schooling & Learning Philosophy

Filling

Expanding of Child. This grows and expands child's foundation and structure.

- Details of “what” are seen, distinct, for child while child journeys on this path of kingdom learning.
- Child must be given space to foster its foundation and structure before moving deeper and forward.
- Person stewarding Child will be Wisdom incarnate. Body Soul Spirit continually walking the same process as Child Steward is watching over them.
