

Strategic Framework

“Compelling” Jewish Life

<https://www.hillel.org/find-a-hillel/?sort=jewish-percentage-desc>

The idea is that they must “fight for inclusion,” yet at some of the universities they have listed, Jewish students make up 100% of the student body?

Unfortunately, and I believe many would agree, I do see this as favoritism. This isn’t because Jewish individuals do not deserve a fair education or a safe education. Yet, nearly all, half, or even a quarter of the student population at some universities are Jewish. It is clear that there is “compelling,” or, as we often recite, coercion. The US people have interests of their own that are not Israel’s nor Jewish, and I do feel this boundary must be established for up and coming political “classes.”

<https://www.usccr.gov/files/2026-09/antisemitism-report.pdf>

<https://www.informationliberation.com/?id=65023>

<https://apnews.com/article/fbi-antisemitism-patel-comey-kirk-f997bd60b92a07023c00cfbf6c4ed7e6>