

State Preference → U.S. Preference Standard

Publicly funded programs and opportunities should prioritize Native, ethnic, and anthropological American communities, along with local resident populations, in order to strengthen regional stability, safety, and security, preserve community continuity, and ensure that taxpayer-supported resources primarily benefit populations historically and geographically connected to the area.

D. Cowdrey