

Dear MOFGA,

I am writing in response to this notice to request that I be removed from your mailing list.

Americans are facing serious challenges affecting public safety and national security, and we are living through an increasingly dangerous period of global war. Our military should be supported, not fought, degraded, or shunned. At a time like this, organizations serving American communities should prioritize the safety, security, and rights of Americans.

I strongly disagree with messaging that appears to place political advocacy ahead of those concerns. Immigration enforcement is a complex legal matter, and it is not appropriate to make categorical statements about what law enforcement can or cannot do without acknowledging the relevant legal issues and circumstances.

Organizations like yours, serving agricultural communities, should always consider public-safety concerns, including human trafficking, organized criminal activity, national security, and the implications of modern conflict, including Fourth-Generation Warfare. These are serious issues, and I think many American families would like to know how MOFGA considers them within its mission and responsibilities. Is protecting and safeguarding Americans during times of war a central priority of your organization, or is it a last concern?

I have always supported your organization and its work with farmers and agricultural communities. However, I do not support partisan or extreme "Abolish" political activism. I do not support the refusal of organizations such as yours to work with our homeland security teams, whose work is important to protecting American communities and public safety. I also do not support the exploitation of undocumented workers, unlawful employment practices, or immigration fraud in agricultural operations. Nor do I support the bullying or degradation of our military or national-security personnel.

For these reasons, I no longer feel that my values are aligned with the direction reflected in communications such as this. It is time to get on pace with reality. This is not about ideology or politics; it is about national security and the safety of American citizens during a period of real and serious foreign and civil war.

Please remove me from your mailing list and discontinue future communications to me.

Thank you.
