To My Community, Family, and Friends,

RE Request for Privacy and Respect During Times of Global Uncertainty

I am writing to you with sincerity, respect, and thoughtful intention. In light of the current challenges we face throughout the world, including conflict, instability, and uncertainty, it is more important than ever to safeguard our collective safety and the dignity and privacy of every individual.

I kindly ask that you refrain from engaging in behaviors that could compromise my well being, including, but not limited to, spreading rumors, prying into personal matters, or sharing information without my consent. While such actions may seem small in the moment, they can cause unnecessary harm, fuel misunderstanding, and erode the trust that is essential among community, family, and friends.

We live in a time when misinformation, surveillance, and hostility circulate widely across the globe. In this environment, protecting personal privacy is a matter of safety. Respecting boundaries, practicing compassion, and showing sincere care for one another are essential if we wish to remain strong and united.

I deeply value each of you, and it is for this reason that I make this request directly and clearly. My hope is to build a foundation of respect and mutual understanding that allows us to support one another through uncertain times.

Let us choose kindness, empathy, truth, and respect. Together, we can set an example of what it means to protect one another as loved ones and as members of a global community striving for peace and security.

Thank you for hearing me and for respecting this boundary. With mutual understanding, I believe we can move forward in strength, safety, and harmony.

With respect and gratitude,

D. Cowdrey
