“Straight Male Who Dresses In Drag”

Battles with protesters about who should have “LGBT rights” to their kids.

He goes by “Pickle.”

By this very disturbing and extremely radical “rights society,” any type of dissent is labeled as targeting, while they, the child groomer, are portrayed as the victim. Same story, different act. All is fair when it is called “art,” is the lesson they work to imprint on our society, even child trafficking, art. Any type of film, including forced voyeurism, “art.” “It’s freedom, free speech.” It’s modern slavery. It’s the twisting of what is normal, making it “abstract,” and replacing it with what is psychologically insane.

It is this type of absurdity that creates slavery, that creates wars. Children and women are not political playing grounds who are at the mercy of any type of man because of their entitlement to have access to them. It is in this pervasive entitlement that we are seeing mass child grooming, disgusting child trafficking, and child pornography. We also see disturbing forms of bestiality and animal cruelty. We see women mass targeted, tortured and harmed. There is no end in sight unless we constantly “perform” as an opposing force against them. This is the energetic slavery of a society suffering at the will of attention-seeking and disturbed men.

It is the unchecked entitlement and pervasive behaviors that have us running in circles trying to stop their evils. And that is exactly what it is. It is evil, painted in nail polish and wigs. Characters stand beneath these costumes and remain, disturbed men. Whether they are “female spirited” or not does not change the fact that they still have male biology. Would this behavior be acceptable if it were not considered a topic of “rights?” Nope.

Where pedophiles and sex predators can read books to our children in clown makeup and revealing clothing — clothing that even those students themselves are not allowed to wear because it is not age- or school-appropriate — the line has obviously been crossed. Not just crossed, we are witnessing the war front right there with our kindergartners.

No matter how sensitive, dainty, female-like, or fun the individual is, the parents said no. He coerced and forced himself into that child’s classroom by pretending to be something he is not. This is the left’s extreme ideology that has normalized child grooming, and it is beyond disturbing, as well as beyond repair.

Parents said no. That much was clear. But this boundary was not respected. Worse, it included innocent, vulnerable children. These men gained such close access to some of these children that they put their hands on them. Would this behavior be acceptable in any other context? Schools, of all places! Reading Rainbow was too boring, too normal?

Child grooming is a crime so severe that, truly, as a society we are still processing it. An illusion, a magical illusion, a man in a clown costume named Pickles, Cookie, Velvet, Boxx, G, grooming children. We want entitled men to stop, just stop. In other words, get the hell out of our schools!
