

Pesticide Exposure, “Slit Throat” “Slit Belly”

This morning, after enduring a night of cramps from the pesticide exposure, I woke up to multiple lines across my womb. My skin is toxic to the touch. I am devastated by this experience.

It looks as if I have a cesarean scar. All of my belongings are packed. This is how fast it hit me. Just five days ago, I was exposed against my will.

These companies know what they are doing. I contacted the apartment complex for emergency accommodations, though I have not heard anything from them. This was a huge loss of life, liberty and safety.
