The Dichotomy of Modern Jewish Activism

- It may argue for "diversity" in the USA while arguing for "racial and religious supremacy" in Israel.
- It may argue for peace while actively targeting and attacking others.
- It may argue for "space" while taking up the most space in places that should be shared.
- It may ask for more money while having the most.
- It may victimize others while claiming to be victims.
- It may cry wolf while being the wolf itself: Lehi, Bolsheviks, modern Communists, "No Kings," and "No Pharaohs," yet it supports Jewish imperialism.
- They may see themselves as different from the White race, frequently portraying White Americans as the KKK, and yet supports all other races, perpetuating historic anti-Whtie racism. It hides in the guise of its Whiteness and promotes campaigns against it.
- It does not believe in White activism, calling it supremacy, even when it involves small historic communities of minority White races. Russian Cold War hostility against Americans, never ends, it's aids within the Jewish Israeli community. Yet it advocates Jewish activism to the point of eugenics and genocide. It steals olive branches and then wonders why there is no peace.
- They makes millions off antisemitism, turning it into a business in itself and a tool of silencing and oppression, yet claim to be the silenced and oppressed.

Is this really fair to the American people? The relentless targeting, victimizing, blame-shifting, and gaslighting? Americans were coerced and forced to share with the world, now where are Americans? At colleges? A dwindling population? Ghost towns? They couldn't afford to raise families, while the Jewish tax made Jews richer than ever. A community taken over? "Diversified with foreigners the Jewish themselves recruited"? A celebratory Bend the Arc campaign?

They complain about Muslims, yet share in the movements that harm Whites. White Americans aren't allowed to feel any pain? Of course, not. They join Black right's movements, at their feet, yet still benefit, profits, White hate.

These are, after all, revenge campaigns. No, there is no humanity there. We are only worried about the Jewish. Just that race. Never the White American race.

- It hurts being victimized, more than it hurts to victimize.
- This isn't just about Palestine, we are concerned about American lives.
- We recognize modern genocide movements for what they are.
- We're not looking for "dichotomies," we are looking for humanity and for accountability.
