

Vampires with blackened souls drink the blood from the daughter of the goddess. They drink and drink and drink, thinking it will give them power. Her blood begins to absorb and poison them, but it is too late—they have feasted on the Red Tide.

~This is the Mother's Curse of the Great Thief

The Understanding

Do not do that which is unnatural, inhuman, or hurts the daughter of the goddess.

Do not take from the daughter. For that spirit which is stolen shall never truly be kept. What is taken may become poison.

~Union of Saints

