

Ignorantia juris non excusat, Motto

American Activists, Newcomers

Please stop bullying and attacking our people and our forces.

Modern Motto

Brash, but forward, and intended to support a broader understanding:

“Don’t Kluckx Up.”

In general, stop harming people.

It is all fun and games until it is realized that you have joined a modern clan.

It is all fun and games until it escalates into violence.

A lack of awareness of what we are participating in is not a justification.

Ignorantia juris non excusat

“ignorance of the law excuses not.”

In many cases involving violence, there is at least some mens rea involved.

Got your shoes on to go to a protest?

Happened to throw a smoke bomb?

You picked it up.

You are now subject to serious legal consequences under the law.

There are better paths in life than harming others.

Please “Don’t Kluckx Up.”
