

Pesticide Exposure Journal

Feeling great and healthy, very focused on health → Spray → Subtle deterioration in health and degradation of tissue → Took photos of “tissue” reduction, skin spots, and other issues caused by the spray → Multiple visits to physicians, including removal of spots → Found relief after leaving the area where spraying occurred → Healing process → Feeling great, with tissues fully restored → Began no longer noticing most of the previous health effects, except for periodic thyroid pain and nerve reactions → They sprayed again → Rapid deterioration in health, including severe and debilitating reproductive pain → Emotionally painful, sobbing tears → 18 days later, noticed reduction in tissue, similar to the previous experience → I was shocked as I looked at my hand and noticed “tissue deterioration,” which reminded me of my previous experience following the spraying.

This spray is disturbing and horrifying for those who notice changes in their bodies following exposure. Should be banned and companies heavily penalized for unregulated human exposure. No different than chemical warfare.
