

Classic Witchy Movies

Golden Age & Cult Classics

1. Bell, Book and Candle (1958) – A suave, romantic story about a modern witch in New York; stylish and witty.
2. Häxan (1922) – Silent-era Swedish/Danish documentary-style horror exploring witchcraft; visually stunning and eerie.
3. The Witches (1966, Norwegian version) – Darkly atmospheric adaptation, not the family comedy of the 1990s.

70s–80s Modern Witch Cinema

4. The Wicker Man (1973) – Folk horror masterpiece featuring pagan rituals; cult classic.
5. Suspiria (1977) – Dario Argento's masterpiece: a witchy dance academy with mesmerizing visuals and haunting score.
6. The Craft (1996) – Modern cult classic about teen witches; stylish, edgy, and influential.
7. Season of the Witch (1973) – Gothic horror with elegant witches and medieval vibes.

Dark & Gothic Inspirations

8. Black Sunday (1960) – Italian gothic horror with witchcraft and vampiric elements; moody and iconic.
9. Rosemary's Baby (1968) – Psychological horror with a chilling coven; subtle and terrifying.
10. The Blair Witch Project (1999) – Found-footage horror legend; minimalist yet immersive witch mythology.

Fantasy & Mystical

11. Practical Magic (1998) – Stylish modern witch story; romantic, magical, and atmospheric.
12. The Craft: Legacy (2020) – Spiritual continuation of 90s cult; modern aesthetics and serious tone.
13. The Love Witch (2016) – Indie masterpiece with retro 1960s/70s style, gorgeous cinematography, and feminist witch themes.

Animated & Artful Witchy Worlds

14. Kiki's Delivery Service (1989) – Studio Ghibli classic; charming, empowering, beautifully animated.

15. The Secret of Kells (2009) – While not strictly about witches, it has mystical, magical aesthetics and Celtic magic vibes.

16. The Black Cauldron (1985) – Dark Disney fantasy; underrated magical themes.

✨ Bonus Cult & Indie Picks

- The Witches of Eastwick (1987) – Cool adult witches, satirical and stylish.
- Hocus Pocus (1993) – Iconic.
- The Devil's Backbone (2001) – Guillermo del Toro; gothic, haunted, magical undertones.