

Protect Act

Another win for Republicans. Even though the bill was vetoed, the effort speaks volumes about which party is taking the strongest stand against modern forms of slavery.

Hobbs vetoed the bill. She is currently one of the most financially supported politicians serving as Governor of Arizona.

Governor Hobbs campaigned on supporting victims of domestic violence. However, her decision gives greater consideration to the rights or interests of human traffickers than to the protection of victims. Disappointing, aggravating for victims of this disturbing crime. It is not free speech if it is slavery, this understanding should be very clear.
