

China continues to commit acts of war:

My hope is that my intentions are not misinterpreted or misrepresented. With a background in military intelligence, investigative legal practice, and as a community safety advocate, I am committed to the security and well-being of our nation.

I believe it is essential to remain vigilant against activities that threaten our critical infrastructure, public safety, or economic stability. Recent reports indicate that China continues to engage in acts of economic, informational, and technological warfare, including nationwide SIM farm networks that pose risks to American infrastructure. My focus is on identifying behaviors and patterns that could endanger our society—not on ethnicity or nationality—but on protecting our communities from espionage, sabotage, propaganda, or other interference. This is not a left or right issue, but a national security concern and priority.

I wish nothing but the best for all, but the time is not for secretive debate or defamation, which can put citizens at risk. Instead, we must encourage open, healthy, and honest dialogue about what it truly means to secure our nation. Setting clear and responsible boundaries at both the community and national level is essential to maintaining a stable, safe, and thriving future for all Americans.
