2. Websites identifying or cataloguing ICE personnel

These differ from general activity maps because they may attempt to identify individual employees. I am listing their existence and publicly reported operators but not reproducing personnel records.

Project	Function	Publicly identified founder/operator	Notes
ICEList	Database intended to identify or catalogue ICE personnel	Dominick Skinner has been publicly reported as its creator/operator	Distinct from ICE-sighting maps because it focuses on personnel identities.
ICESpy.org	Personnel-identification or documentation website	Operator not publicly confirmed	Referenced in federal legal and public-policy discussions; attribution remains uncertain.
ICEList.info	ICE-personnel catalogue	Operator not publicly confirmed	May be connected to or derivative of other ICE-list projects, but ownership should not be assumed without documentation.
Fuck ICE Archive	Archival collection of immigration-enforcement material	Community-operated; individual leadership not reliably disclosed	Best classified as an archive rather than a real-time tracker.
Watchmen Index	OSINT-style indexing of officials, organizations and ideological networks	Organizational leadership varies and should be verified from its own current disclosures	Broader than ICE and not solely an immigration-enforcement tracker.

Several names in this category were easier to find in secondary discussions than in stable, authoritative project pages. They therefore require additional corporate, litigation or domain-history research before attributing ownership with confidence.
