

A Call for Spiritual, Personal, and Territorial Sovereignty From Foreign and Religious Dictatorship

Political and religious manipulation of the public has reached atrocity levels. Particularly, Jewish and Muslim political organizations are incredibly deceptive and use “religion” as a modus operandi for power, control, and territory. Our government is also incredibly manipulative when it comes to religion, race, and power. We see these forms of manipulation on the Democratic side as well, in which “organizations,” such as nonprofits, are formed as power PACs, and they seek “special protections” while causing severe and grave harm.

Many operate “underground” and have self-empowering operations, regardless of whom they hurt in the process. All of this has caused severe harm to vulnerable and innocent American people, who have experienced periods of peace for a long time, but also societal and historical erasure. Many of these groups are incredibly hurtful and will go to war, kill, and cause harm for territory, control, and power. They twist the truth and are highly manipulative. They will point to groups such as the KKK as being evil, while many commit even worse evils themselves.

Around the world, they have been willing to make “blood sacrifices” in order to get their way. They will kill animals in the most disturbing ways. For example, the support of factory farms is pure evil. Animal sacrifices on the streets are pure evil. The total extinction of animal species for “vaccine” or medicine is evil.

Whether it’s communism or religious dictatorship, the clandestine way in which others have posed as, for example, “Americans,” while simultaneously severely harming Americans, is also pure evil. This is why I am calling for “total” spiritual, personal, and territorial autonomy, sovereignty, and safety from any “alternate” organization, including religious or political organizations, that seeks any form of power, control, or territory—political or land-based—over the American people or my race as a French American.

I give special attention to the Jewish Federation and Islamic organizations, as well as other foreign and modern colonial organizations, which have lost the sacred trust of the American people. They are hurting the American people, have gone to war on the American people and other parts of the world, and this is why I am seeking total sovereignty, safety, and sacred protections.

My line is drawn.

No OSIRAM.

A dictatorship is a form of government in which one person or a small group holds concentrated political power, with little or no meaningful accountability to the public.

Dictatorships often restrict people's ability to challenge the government, replace its leaders, or exercise their fundamental rights and freedoms.

Common characteristics of a dictatorship

- Concentrated power: One leader or a small group controls major government decisions.
- Suppression of opposition: Political opponents, critics, journalists, or protesters may face intimidation, censorship, imprisonment, or violence.
- Lack of free elections: Elections may be absent, manipulated, or structured so that the ruling party cannot realistically lose.
- Control of information: The government may restrict the press, censor information, or spread propaganda.
- Weak accountability: Courts, legislatures, and other institutions may be unable to hold leaders accountable.
- Abuse of authority: Government power may be used to benefit those in control rather than serve the public.

Can a dictatorship involve religion or private organizations?

Yes. Authoritarian control does not always come exclusively from a government.

- Religious authoritarianism: Religious authorities or institutions attempt to impose beliefs or rules through coercion, suppressing individual freedom of conscience.
- Political authoritarianism: A political party or movement seeks to eliminate meaningful opposition and consolidate power.
- Institutional or organizational coercion: A private organization uses intimidation, undue influence, or control over resources to limit people's choices or freedoms.

A religious organization, nonprofit, political advocacy group, or lobbying organization may participate in negative conduct, consolidate its power, lack accountability, and violate other people's rights.

Remedies: Can affected individuals seek independent investigation, legal relief, or meaningful accountability?

What is the opposite of a dictatorship?

A constitutional democracy distributes and limits government power through laws, independent courts, accountable institutions, and meaningful public participation. It protects individual rights, including freedom of religion, freedom from religious coercion, freedom of expression, and equal protection under the law.

One important distinction: Sovereignty and freedom from coercion do not require a person or a nation to control others. They can mean having the authority to govern oneself, preserve one's cultural identity, practice or reject religion freely, and live safely without intimidation or domination.

In short, dictatorship is fundamentally about concentrated, insufficiently accountable power and the suppression of meaningful freedom.
