- Woman was stabbed repeatedly by illegal alien and then lit on fire.
- 42-year-old Carmen Lizet Puch, “a mother now gone.”

Illegal aliens who all killed Americans.

The key issues are politics and prevention. Border security is not an ideology or an abstract issue. It directly concerns national security, public safety, immigration enforcement, and the prevention of crimes that can have devastating consequences for American families.

The concern also extends beyond individual criminal acts to political rhetoric and threats. When political activists or public figures make credible death threats or rhetoric that advocates violence against people with opposing views, those threats should be taken seriously regardless of political affiliation.

The issue is no longer simply about ideology. It is about prevention, accountability, public safety, and the human cost of policies or political movements that fail to address credible threats before people are harmed.

The concern is loss of life or modern human cost.
