American Dollars for War-Time Government Bread

Ending ideological programs funded by taxpayer grants makes the most sense. Right now, taxpayer dollars are being exploited and sent to private funding groups so they can then disperse that money wherever they want. This needs to change. The U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO, 2026) identified weaknesses in federal foreign assistance fraud prevention and risk management, including outstanding recommendations to improve oversight. Since July 2016, GAO had made at least 51 recommendations concerning foreign assistance fraud risks; agencies had implemented 22, leaving 29 outstanding at the time of its March 2026 testimony. It isn't just causing Americans to go into poverty, but it is also eugenocidal. If people cannot afford the bare necessities, such as food and housing, or afford to live in their natural localities among their native communities, they will not be able to sustain themselves, let alone raise a family. This is war-time ghettoing in a nutshell.

Sadly, much of America's tax dollars are being exploited and sent overseas. Millions upon millions of dollars have been defrauded from American citizens, and by people who do not care and will even hurt the American people, actively at war with them in some places. This needs to stop. The GAO (2026) reported that federal foreign assistance is delivered in complex environments that can increase fraud, waste, and abuse risks, particularly in conflict zones. It also reported that the federal government loses an estimated $233 billion to $521 billion annually to fraud across government programs, based on 2018–2022 data. This is a government-wide estimate, not an estimate of foreign aid fraud alone. Just one grant organization could provide Americans with a million dollars each! For comparison, $1 billion could provide $1 million to 1,000 people, before administrative expenses and eligibility restrictions. This isn't about capitalism or socialism. It is about common ~cents!

People are moving away from their native places because they cannot afford to live there. Sadly, Democrats cry for more foreign laborers and lower-paid wages, and they are willing to replace an entire native population just to get their way. This is not the way! The U.S. Census Bureau (2023) reported that housing-related reasons accounted for 41.6% of moves in 2022, making housing the most frequently cited general category of reasons for moving. This provides evidence that housing is an important factor in Americans' decisions to move. The idea of a dwindling population is not really aligned with reality. Populations expand and decrease through time. Our native populations have expanded substantially, yet they are also not supported in the normal, native ways they should be. For example, many Americans are very hard workers, yet they work so hard that it harms their hearts and bodies and becomes physically taxing. They can only labor so much, and it is exploitative if they are not paid enough to support a home and put food on the table. The housing market continues to increase, and new housing is rarely built. When it is, the left seems to want to fill that housing with politicians, activists, and foreigners. It is all about ideology. This is far from our values, our roots, and our reality. These ideologues are truly harming our people. All of this radicalism and forced assimilation is taking away from normalcy. Most people simply want to live in peace. They work hard, and they are tired by the end of the day. If they have children, they have mouths to feed and more errands and responsibilities at home to take care of. This is the American reality. The money they earned should be their money! The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service (Rabbitt et al., 2025) reported that 13.7% of U.S. households, representing 18.3 million households, experienced food insecurity at some point during 2024 because they lacked sufficient money or other resources to obtain enough food. The report also found that 5.4% of households, or 7.2 million households, experienced very low food security, a more severe condition involving disrupted eating patterns or reduced food intake. Some ideological programs are costing American taxpayers trillions of dollars. Most people cannot fathom this amount of money, and it isn't chump change. It is contributing to the ghettoing of America. Source: https://www.ers.usda.gov/publications/113622

The government says that many of these programs are underused. Well, that is surplus taxpayer money sitting in an organization's bank account, now privately owned. Americans are essentially living in servitude to these organizations. For what? So that the middleman can say, "Here is your bread. Sorry you couldn't afford it on your own after I skimmed your paycheck and paid my bills first. I know it's not the best bread, but it's government bread! Would you like a can of foreign-made syrup peaches?" The GAO (2023) reported that federal agencies awarded more than $1.2 trillion in grants to state and local governments in fiscal year 2021 and identified deficiencies in reporting information about undisbursed balances in expired grants. These findings support the need for better transparency and grant closeout procedures. Source: https://www.gao.gov/products/gao-23-105700

This isn't the right way. This is the indentured servitude way, and it hurts the pride of the American people, whose pride belongs to them after a hard day's work. The American dollar has value, yet to the exploitative, the one who provides the American dollar has none! They deserve to keep their pennies in their pockets, not have that money go to others who make more than they do by scamming the system.

No more.
