

The Evil Games They Play

The BLACK HORSE (KNIGHT) vs. the innocent white victim.

When I was experiencing my revelations, I was shown a palace with checkerboard floors, rich with elegance, and other symbols, such as a throne. It felt good to me because I was being led there by the Spirit. It was almost as if I were being shown the floors of the kingdom, or our spiritual realm. Of course, this was just a vision, but it seems my visions were profound enough.

The Twisting.

Of course, God isn't concerned with our race; on the contrary, God sees us all as children, all worthy of love and protection.

And so.

When these activists play wicked games against whites to reign "supreme" over them, it is intriguing how they think they can play God.

No, my life is not a game of chess for others to play. No, I am not the board to be trampled on and walked all over by black knights.

No, my success and liberty are not on the board for others to "flick off," like a "won" chess piece.

Sadly, we see the games being played, and we see the inversion. We see the twisting, and we see the evil.

It was never a fair game with these activists and knights; it was always a means to an end: suppress and harm whites—win.

What are you winning? A position? A political play? For whom?

Is it Mexico? Russia? China?

Our "great replacement"?

Good Lord, Almighty.

I have never known a more wicked game than this.

Imagine sitting down to play a game of chess with people who don't want to play that game—they simply want to live in peace and be free.

But instead, the black knights force them into conflict, sabotage, violence, and harm.

Imagine what kind of person you must be to participate in evil like this.

Did you forget that you are a child of God?

A warning: God can be "forgetful," too.

[Sadly, I see these violences as real warfare which betray the American people and aid our foreign enemies.]
