

Chem War – Pesticide Update

I gave my apartment complex notice that I would be leaving on the 31st. However, because the toxicity has not stopped harming my body and causing aches, pains, and scary symptoms, including strange tissue loss, new marks, and other experiences such as feeling like there are “microscopic razors” cutting at my skin, I have chosen to leave earlier.

I really cannot warn people enough. I am so worried about my old community in Florida, as they spray monthly, once or more, indoors, around the perimeter, and in the air. It is very disturbing how much this pesticide deteriorates the health of a human being and how fast it harms us.

Today, I warned my dental team. This was my last appointment. I am more than likely leaving my furniture behind, like I did the last time, because of contamination. Not only is this costly, but it really wreaks havoc on your health. It took me time to recover the last time I was exposed. I hope that I do have a full recovery this time.

I remember that my arms started to look like they had these “hollow” expressions, and I am having the same experience this time. I looked down at my hand and was shocked once again. I had forgotten this symptom I experienced the last time, but it definitely served as a reminder.

I will be driving across the country, and this will be the last time I stay in places that they spray.

I do feel that this experience has created a modern diaspora, and “flight.” I feel that they have committed genocide through pesticide spraying. The effects are difficult to prove, which makes it easier to get away with. It needs to be banned.
