

Types of Illnesses That Can Occur From Pesticide Exposure

→ Disappointing experiences in the South and Southwest with pesticides.

- They “take” autonomy away and spray your health away.

Unless you have had this experience yourself, it may be difficult to understand the full picture. These pesticides are not like the products commonly sold over the counter. They are 6,000 times more potent against their target organisms than DDT, and the pain and illness I have experienced following exposure have been so scary and disturbing.

They should not be legal. They should be banned in America, like they are in other countries. Fipronil, the active ingredient in Termidor, has been banned, prohibited, or severely restricted for certain uses in the European Union, Vietnam, China, and California.

Since I was sprayed in Florida, the pain around my thyroid has never gone away. I remember seeing new marks appear on my skin after they sprayed. Unfortunately, many of those same symptoms have now returned. I am doing everything I can to move my belongings as quickly as possible and avoid further exposure, but I am afraid the damage has already been done.

They only sprayed outside, and yet the effects have reached throughout my entire apartment. Like the woman speaking below, I spent the week feeling unwell, examining my body for new marks, experiencing new nerve pain, and repeatedly rinsing my skin in search of some relief. It has been a living nightmare.

Sadly, I have discovered at least eight new black spots and many other red spots since they sprayed just this week. The physical changes I have experienced following these exposures are very disturbing. This issue deserves serious attention.

Not that one more one star review will make any difference but don't use this branch. My landlord has a contract with them. I have an unusual sensitivity to pesticides and he spoke to them at great length about only baiting and setting traps and not using pesticide inside the unit right next to mine. Our apartments were not built as a separate units but only had a wall thrown up many years ago to create two units out of one. It would be like spraying in one room of your house and just shutting the door. He confirmed to me that Arrow said they would not spray inside, at all. The morning the tech came out to service the building, I caught him walking out of the adjoining apt holding the pesticide canister. I introduced myself and told him that I was the one who couldn't be around sprays and he said "where do you live???" and looked like he swallowed a bug. I told him and asked "did you spray?" He stammered "uh uh uh only a little." I checked with my neighbor and she confirmed he did spray. I immediately called my landlord, who called the office to speak to the manager. They took a week to call him back and, after delaying an entire week, claimed that the tech didn't spray inside. I was sick for the following week. Do not use this location. You will not get the service that was promised.

This review is for Arrow Exterminators in [redacted]:
They are the most unprofessional, disrespectful service I have ever had! I was out town when they called me to setup my service date. I specifically told the person on the phone that I was out of town and I would call them when I returned. I received a $75 bill for services rendered on Aug 19. When I called their office, I spoke to Frank and he was extremely combative with me from the start. He said that he told me he would do the outside and do the inside when I returned. I specifically told him NO and I would call when I returned home to do the complete service. When I called to ask why I received the $75 bill, Frank said he sprayed the outside. He insisted that he told me he was doing the outside service only. I said NO you did NOT. I did not agree with his assessment of the situation ... HE HUNG UP THE PHONE ON ME! Actually slammed the phone down. Great customer service! By the way, this is not the first time that they have done this to me. Previously I accepted the fact that they did do the outside and never set a time or date for the inside to be done and I did pay that bill! How do you know they came to do the outside? There is no evidence or a card for "services rendered" left hanging on your front door? I guess the customer is always right does NOT ring a bell with Arrow Exterminators ... they are no longer my service.
