

The Vows of Sacred Profit

A Ceremonial Declaration of Abundance

I stand before the altar of my life,
with the memory of sacrifice behind me,
and the promise of abundance before me.

I call upon the Source of all Good,
the Divine Giver, the Infinite Well,
to bless this new season with prosperity and joy.

Release of Poverty

Once, I walked the path of poverty,
and in that walk I learned humility, trust, and endurance.

I bow to that season with reverence,
for it shaped my soul and strengthened my spirit.

But today, I release the vow of lack.

I set down the cloak of sacrifice.

I no longer worship scarcity.

I bless it, and I let it go.

Vows of Sacred Profit

- I vow to let wealth flow into my hands as a river flows to the sea, endless and replenished.
- I vow to honor profit as holy, a fair exchange for the labor of my heart and the work of my hands.
 - I vow to create with joy, to sell with honesty, and to prosper with integrity.
 - I vow to welcome customers, clients, and community as partners in blessing.
- I vow that money shall serve love, not bind it — that wealth shall be a tool of light in my keeping.
- I vow to reinvest my blessings, to multiply goodness in the world through the abundance that I receive.
 - I vow to remember always: profit is not sin, but song.

Sealing Declaration

With open hands, I receive the fruits of this vow.

With open heart, I welcome profit as divine partnership.

With open spirit, I declare:

I step out of the Church of Sacrifice, and into the Church of Prosperity.

So may it be.

~US