

Pass H.R. 2095

Reply: "Explains a lot. It was so awful, and it was repeated. If I was enduring lost mail over and over again, as just one person, imagine how many others there are?
Freeport, Florida. I fully support H.R. 2095 and feel that passing it is urgent." -US

I hope all is well, I am just checking in to see if we were able to locate the certified mail I sent out by chance?

Packages delivered to different address

The couch would have been in boxes, not delivered as one item.

I hope all is well for you and you are having a great Halloween. I have a package that says it was delivered but it has not yet arrived.

Item Delivered Yesterday

My mail was going missing. One package after another. One day I received strange plastic pieces instead of the package I was supposed to.

Master keys. Attacks on postal workers. Check fraud. Stolen ballots. This is what happens in a single edition — and it's the same story every edition.

None of this is random. Every one of these headlines traces back to the same decision: in 2020, the U.S. Postal Inspection Service sidelined the Postal Police Force from proactive crime prevention. Mail theft, check fraud, and Arrow Key crime exploded in the vacuum.

We don't need another study to explain what's on this list.

Restore Postal Police patrol authority. Pass H.R. 2095.
