

Democratic Party Address – Fourth Generational Warfare

The Democratic Party is actively conditioning the public to dismantle its own national security protections. Its leaders and institutions appear willing to tolerate the worst of human wrongs in order to advance their policies and maintain political power. At this stage, I no longer view it as merely a political party, but as a political war front.

I say this as a woman who voted Democratic for most of her life. The party today resembles a massive network of organized corruption that has embedded itself within our democracy, taken cues from foreign adversaries, and supported policies that have caused devastating harm. Its conduct demands independent investigation, public accountability, and the full exposure of any criminal activity.

This threat should be confronted with the same seriousness and vigilance required during any War. Today, this type of conflict is described as “fourth generation warfare,” involving political influence, propaganda, psychological manipulation, institutional infiltration, cyber operations, crimefare, human trafficking and the weakening of a nation from within. It is not harmless, and those engaged in such warfare may use violence and sacrifice human lives to achieve their objectives.

The response must remain lawful, disciplined, and constitutional. It requires truth, investigation, national preparedness, secure borders, protected institutions, independent journalism, fair elections, and equal enforcement of the law. Political power cannot be permitted to stand above the Constitution or the American people.

~Cowardrey

safety

heritage

culture

community

normalcy

majority
opinion

Americans

security

freedom

peace

humanity

spirit

tradition

native
demographic

American
values