

Florida Health, Chemical Exposure

To put Florida Health into perspective,

Poison is being sprayed into the outdoor air and walls of homes. This spray is volatile enough that human beings lose life expectancy and face the consequence of “early aging.” Thyroid cancer is a common pattern. Heart attack and stroke as well. With the combination of heat, stress, and toxic medicines, this creates a negative cycle within human body systems.

Not only is air affected, but also the water and food. Due to the make of the chemicals, these are not chemicals found in nature, but are synthetic, they are made to last long periods. Worse, residents are left with all home items that are porous now heavily contaminated with this very toxic spray. An eerie experience it is, as bugs lay dead around them, and they may find small animals decaying on their walks as well. A white residue can be seen.

I argue on behalf of Florida residents and myself, as we have been very ill from these sprays. I am still living with chronic chemical pain, months after leaving Florida. My skin has scars and is still recovering; however, I feel much better in my new environment. The chemical companies still used today are of the same era as WW2 and stem from the German region. These are the same companies, though new branding, that created Zyklon B, the spray used on the victims of the holocaust.

Residents are not warned. There is not only a failure to warn, especially of health effects, but corporations and politicians are working overtime to further “gag” the public with new laws that silence victims, rendering them helpless if they become ill, sick with cancer, or a loved one dies.

The experience reminds me of the World War II Holocaust. Outdoors and indoors, the pain of the chemicals may be felt, pain with breathing, a sense of “chemical showers” overhead, which lead to aches of the head, neck, and exposed extremities. My skin, which had absorbed these chemicals, was toxic to the touch for months, only getting worse with time. No reprieve, 42,000 pounds into the air in one town alone, and indoors, monthly, for some residents, weekly applications. These chemicals may be manufactured anywhere, including overseas in places like China.

Deeply disturbing. Real harms. Life cost and financial cost. My worry is less with “unsuspecting” and “innocent” small companies or people who use the spray, although “not throwing caution and chemicals to the wind,” all should be offered much stronger caution, guidance, as well as laws of protection. I am mostly concerned with the manufacturers themselves, as with World War II, the goal was profit over human cost, the same is true today, that Florida law protects financial interests over human health. This strange language must be challenged, where human life and animal life are in danger.

I am concerned for our most vulnerable residents, pets, children, elders, but all may suffer from illness as a result of these man made lethal chemicals sprayed into our air and homes.

The basics, human beings are not meant to breathe in animal killing sprays. We require air. We also require clean water free of kill-agent pesticides.

This reality, therefore, is a human health emergency. In summary, by sharing this information we may save a life. Please tell a friend, help us spread the word, chemical spraying without warning, legal protection, and individual consent must end.

Sincerely,
Cowdrey
