Aura

Simple, practical outdoor shelter

A clean manual-louvre design can frame a compact patio without overwhelming the garden. Pair it with understated furniture and soft planting for an easy, modern finish.

Ideas to borrow

- Keep the layout open and uncluttered
- Use neutral dining furniture for contrast
- Add a privacy screen where the garden needs it

REFERENCE FINISH

Graphite grey frame with a restrained neutral furniture palette.

Atlas

A flexible room beneath the sky

Atlas suits larger patios where dining, lounging and shelter need to work together. A mix of seating zones and a privacy feature helps the pergola feel like a considered extension of the home.

Ideas to borrow

- Create separate dining and lounge zones
- Frame one side with a privacy feature
- Use planting to soften the aluminium structure

REFERENCE FINISH

Graphite grey aluminium with warm natural timber and textured fabrics.

Atmosphere at the touch of a button

Integrated lighting changes the character of the patio after dark. Combine cool colour accents with warm garden lighting to create an evening space that still feels relaxed and welcoming.

Ideas to borrow

- Layer roof lighting with softer wall lights
- Keep seating comfortably within the lit zone
- Use planters to add depth around the structure

REFERENCE FINISH

Graphite grey aluminium with adjustable RGBW roof lighting.

Horizon

Dependable cover, contemporary style

The fixed roof creates a calm, sheltered dining area with a strong architectural outline. A warm pebble underside and woven furniture keep the overall look welcoming rather than industrial.

Ideas to borrow

- Position dining centrally beneath the roof
- Echo the pebble tone in furniture and paving
- Leave clear views into the surrounding garden

REFERENCE FINISH

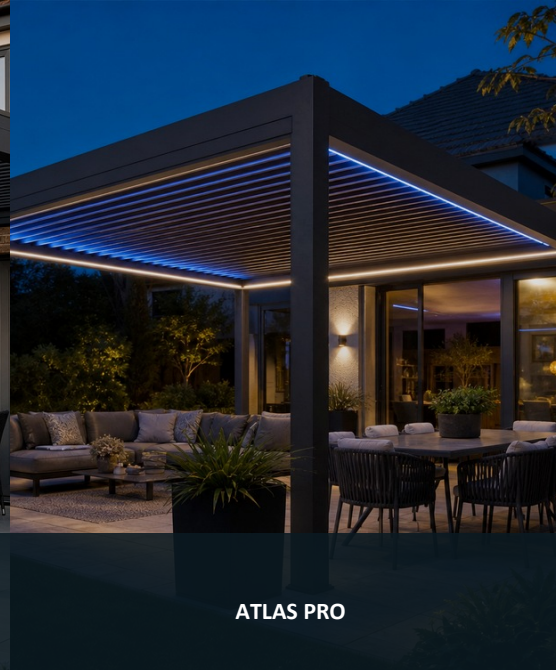

Graphite grey frame, pebble roof underside and warm neutral seating.
