

SEED TO SUPPER

Community Partnership and Penn State University Extension Master Gardeners are partnering to bring Seed to Supper to Butler, in order to support more food secure communities; increasing access to garden produce to provide healthier food choices. The curriculum focuses on low budget home gardening strategies and provides a facilitator for making connections among community program partners (host agencies) and between program participants. The beginning gardening course gives novice gardeners the tools they need to connect with others in the community, grow in confidence and successfully grow a portion of their own food on a limited budget. This program is open to individuals and families whose household income falls at or below 125% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines.

Please feel free to contact Sandy at (724)431-3623 or by e-mail at scurry@yourcapinfo.org for any questions or to apply to the class.
