

Last Updated: October 2025

Welcome to Prosperidad Solutions LLC. By accessing our website, you agree to the following Terms & Conditions. Please read them carefully.

1. Use of Website

Our website provides information about consulting services, essential-service development projects, and upcoming business initiatives. You agree not to misuse the site, interfere with functionality, or attempt unauthorized access.

2. No Professional Guarantees

Information provided on this site is for general guidance only. We do not guarantee specific financial, operational, or business outcomes. Any decisions made based on site content or consulting discussions are solely your responsibility.

3. Intellectual Property

All content, branding, text, graphics, and materials on this site are owned by Prosperidad Solutions LLC and may not be copied, redistributed, or reproduced without written permission.

4. Service Engagements

Consulting services, business development assistance, or project involvement must be formalized through a signed agreement. Website content alone does not create a client relationship.

5. User Submissions

If you submit information through forms or email, you confirm that the information is accurate and that you have permission to share it.

6. Limitation of Liability

Prosperidad Solutions LLC is not liable for any loss, damages, or business decisions resulting from the use of our website or reliance on general information posted here.

7. External Links

We may reference third-party resources or websites. We are not responsible for their content, policies, or performance.

8. Updates & Modifications

We may update these Terms & Conditions as our company expands into new ventures, including laundromats and other essential services. Continued use of the website constitutes acceptance of changes.