During our December 2025 trip to China, we spent time with the artisans and engineers behind some of the world's most recognizable decorative lighting. These factory partners create fixtures for hospitality icons like Disney and Hilton, and seeing their craftsmanship in person deepened our appreciation for what they bring to every project.

The material capabilities are remarkable. Hand-forged iron and steel, solid brass and bronze, mouth-blown glass, hand-polished crystal, alabaster, ceramic, natural fibers like rattan and linen, carved wood, and modern acrylics and resins—our partners work across the full spectrum. Fixture types span chandeliers in tiered, linear, cluster, and sculptural configurations, along with pendant lights, wall sconces, table and floor lamps, vanity fixtures, and fully custom architectural installations.

Equally important is compliance. All electrical components meet UL and ETL safety standards for the North American market, including UL-listed LED drivers, sockets, wiring, and junction boxes. LED modules carry UL recognition at the component level, and complete fixtures can be manufactured to achieve full UL or ETL listing. Our partners maintain relationships with recognized testing laboratories and understand the documentation, construction, and labeling requirements for smooth code compliance. Finish options range from antique patinas and hand-applied gold leaf to electroplating, powder coating, and custom color matching.

What makes our partnerships different is the personal connection. Because we've sat down with factory leadership and walked the production lines ourselves, we can move quickly when you need samples, design iterations, or production commitments. The traditional procurement path through designers, agents, and distributors stretches timelines for months. Force Global Supply compresses that dramatically—getting you designer-quality lighting without the wait.
