A Life Well Lived

Georgia was a remarkable person who made friends wherever she went. Whether spending time with her beloved canine companion, Flicka, pursuing her interests, or sharing stories and laughter with others, she had a special way of brightening a room with her warm personality and wonderful smile.

Her accomplishments extended far beyond her professional career. She was a person of faith, a devoted friend, and someone whose talents and kindness touched many lives. Her love of Jesus brought meaning and purpose to her life, and her faith offers comfort to those who mourn her passing.

Georgia's legacy lives on through the work she accomplished, the friendships she cherished, and the countless memories she created with those fortunate enough to know her. She will be remembered not only for her remarkable achievements but also for the warmth, laughter, and joy she brought into the lives of others.

Georgia will be deeply missed by many, but she will never be forgotten. May she rest in peace until we meet again.
